

Everyone's a child at Christmas time, and that's why there's nothing as much fun as game-playing. Since Christmas groups usually include both children and adults, games that both can enjoy are just the thing.

Charades . . .
Christmas charades is a lively game that the whole family will enjoy.

Divide the group into two teams. Individual members of teams are then called upon to act out a word, character, phrase, scene or situation and since it's Christmas, all the charades should have Christmas overtones.

Subjects are supplied on a slip of paper by the opposing team and then passed on to the actor. From here on, it's his job to see how quickly he can get his teammates to guess what he is acting out.

"The Night Before Christmas," "Jingle Bells," "A Partridge in a Pear Tree," and "Filling the Christmas Stocking" are just some of the many, many subjects that can be used.

Word Play . . .
A popular pencil-and-paper game is called "word play." The object of the game is to see how many words can be made from a phrase such as "Merry Christmas to All." A time limit is set, and the rule is that no letter can be used in any word more often than it appears in the phrase.

In other words, words made from "Merry Christmas to All" can include no more than one "e," "i" or "o," while they could contain as many as two "m's" or three "r's."

Since word play involves competition among its players, it's advisable to allow the children to compete against one another, while the adults battle it out among themselves.

Santa's Sleight . . .
"Santa's Packing His Sleight" is a quiet Christmas game that provides fun and hearty laughter. It starts simply enough with one member of the group saying, "Santa's packing his sleigh, and he's bringing a toy dog."

Then each person repeats the sentence, adding another gift to Santa's sleigh. The object of the game is to repeat longer, more and more players just can't seem to remember the whole list and its order, so consequently they drop out, until only one is left.

GROWING HOLLY
A holly tree grows 15 years before it produces, but its life may be as long as 125 years.

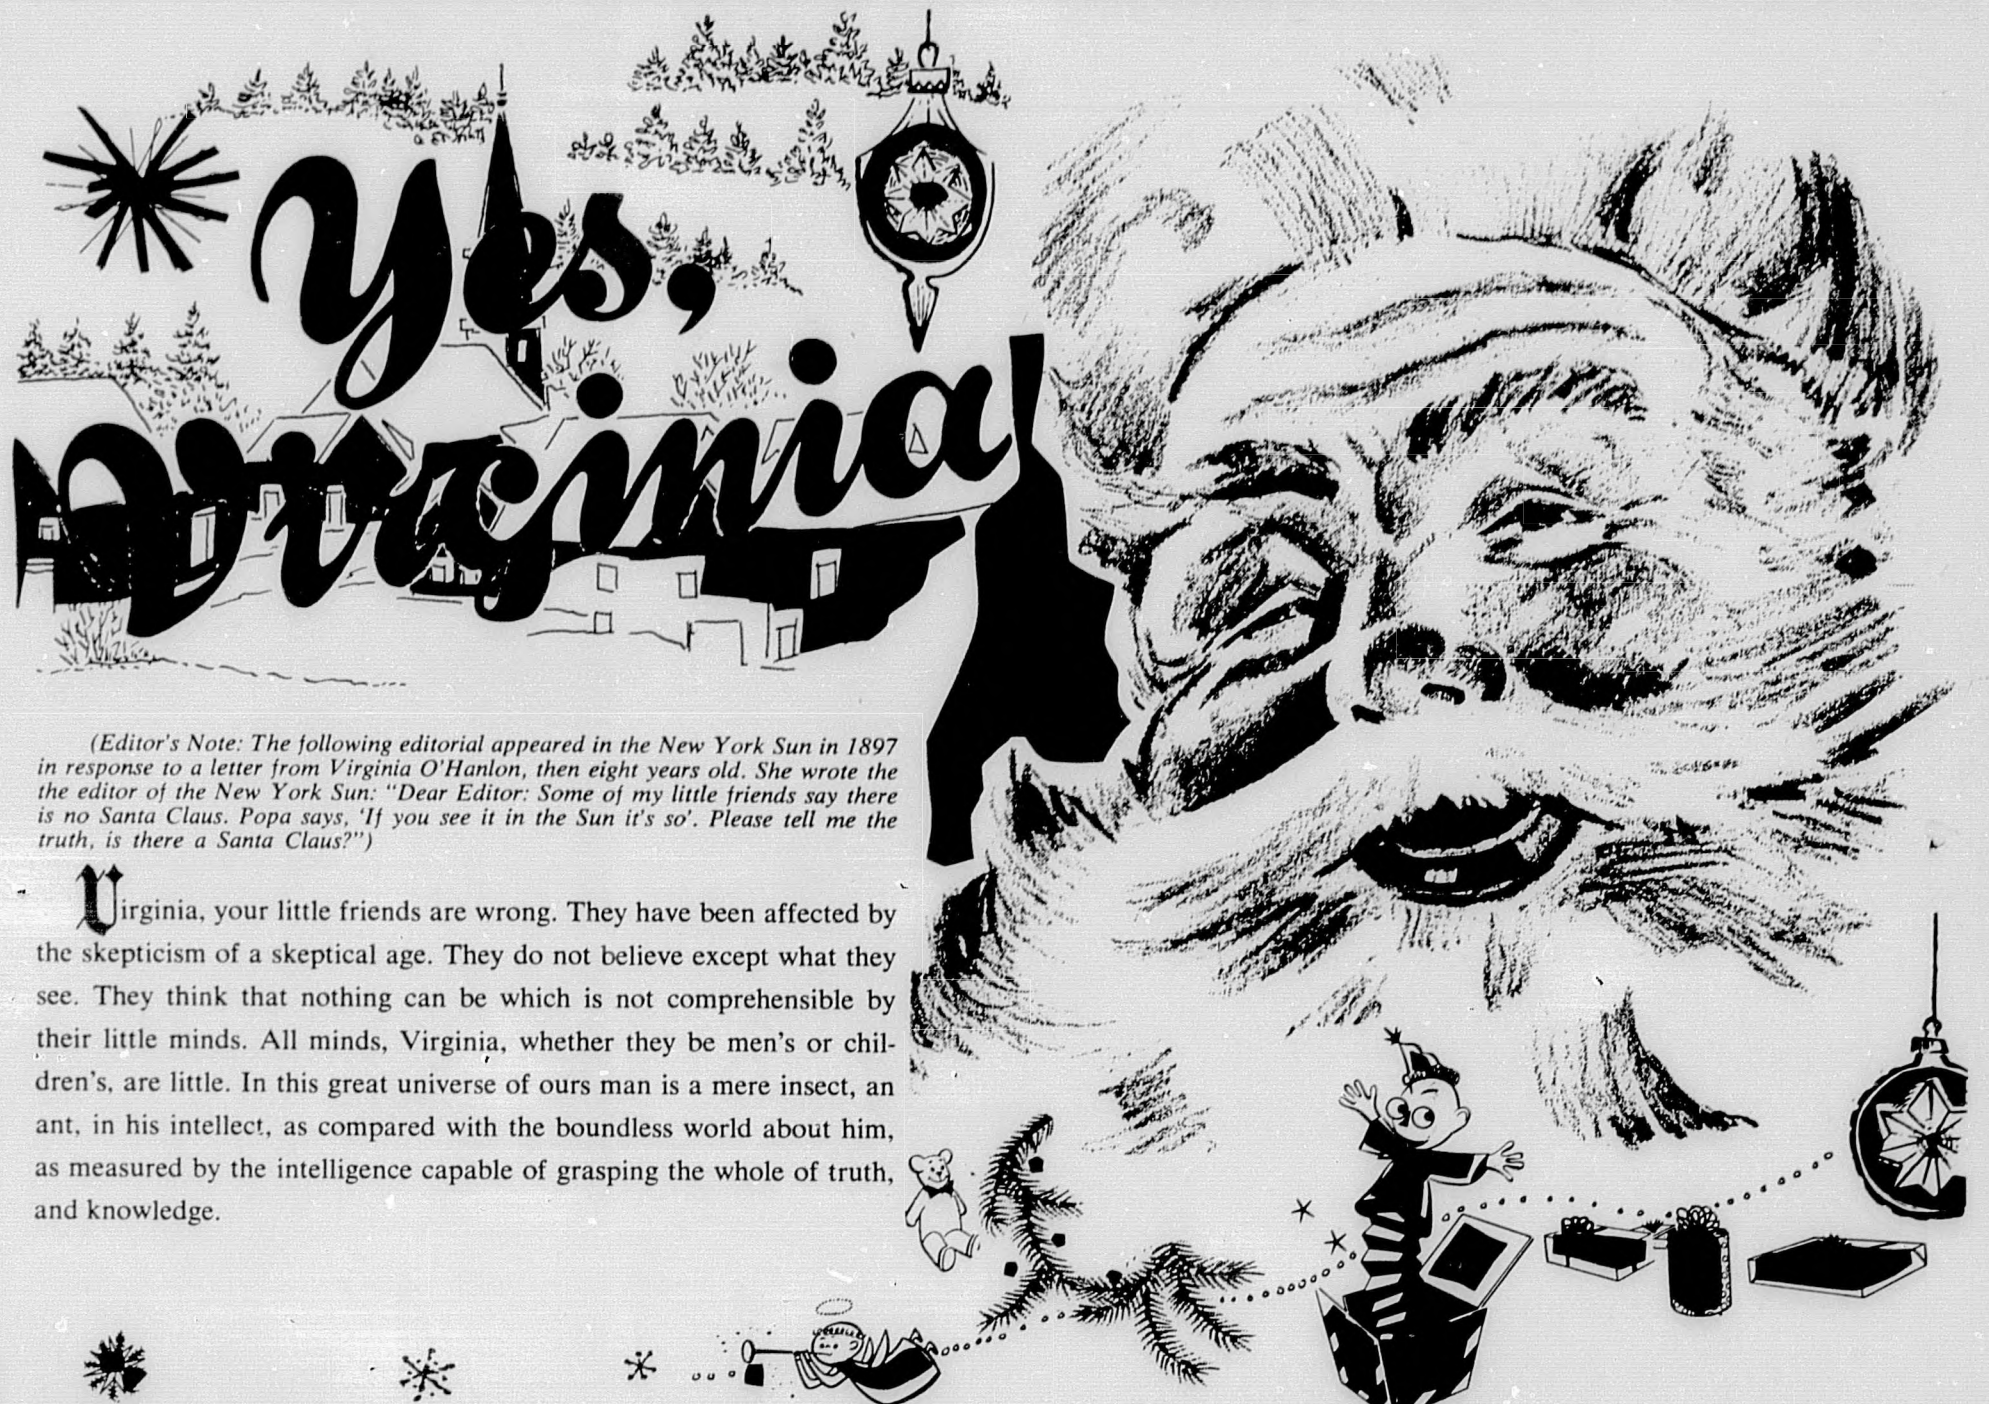

When darkness falls on Christmas Eve, today's shepherd on the Western ranges herder is watching his flocks at the stars in the heavens, just as the shepherds of old did.

There are some differences for instance, the sheep-herder on the Western ranges by night, because, for some reason known only to the sheep, night is the time they

by the thousands. But the meaning of shepherd — "to lead, guard, lead," says a dictionary definition — hasn't changed.

The ailing sheep or the new-born lamb are sure of the herder's gentle care, and when the part of the flock has strayed, and go after that which is lost, until he finds it? (Luke 15:4).

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Virginias. There would be no child-like faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus but, even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else more real and abiding.

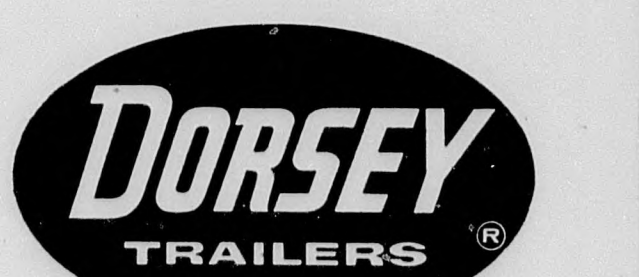

No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

From all of us to all of you...

Caldwell Answers Draft Questions

Alabama Selective Service Director Hugh J. Caldwell, Jr., said recently that many had written to State Headquarters asking for a definition of the term "necessary employment," less, if there is a change in the registrant's status during that period, his classification shall be reopened and considered anew. The registrant may be continued in Class II-A for a further period of one year or less if such classification is warranted, however, the local board is not required to retain any registrant in Class II-A.

County Agent Has Info On Insecticides

Up-to-date information on pesticides is now available to Coffee County residents. According to Tom Casaday, Coffee County Extension chairman, the county Extension office is maintaining a file with the latest information and restrictions on uses of insecticides, herbicides, fungicides and other pesticides. You might call it a chemical information center, says Casaday.

Russell Warns Of Tag Law Violations

Colonel C. W. Russell, Director of the Department of Public Safety, today called attention to a violation of the law and the creation of a driving hazard by many well-meaning Alabama drivers. Director Russell displayed an Alabama re-registered tax still in its wrapper which had been exposed to weather and road grime alongside an identical tag without a wrapper. He pointed out that the numbers on the wrapped tag were much less visible than the unwrapped tag and thus was in violation of the Alabama statute which requires that the tag be "plainly visible."

Draft Call Includes 11 From Coffee

State Director Hugh J. Caldwell, Jr., said recently that Alabama will call 1052 Alabama registrants to the Armed Forces Examining and Induction Station in January to meet the Selective Service quota of 745 men.

In December, Alabama's induction quota was 443. It will be necessary to examine 1,052 men in January, in order to get 745 Selectees for active duty. The others will fall entry for physical, mental, or moral reasons, or will enlist in some branch of service prior to a draft call.

In Alabama, some married men will be included in the January call for 745 men, Caldwell said. However, no fathers will be drafted. The call will be composed of registrants 19 years of age and older, in Class I-A, and I-A-O, examined and acceptable. The county-by-county call included eleven from Coffee County.

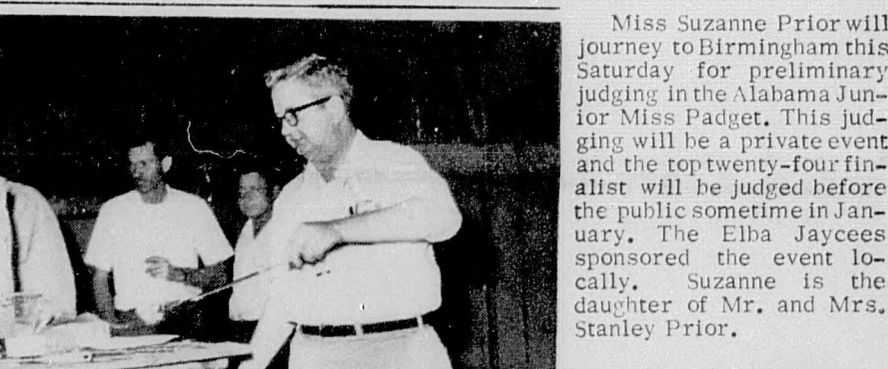

Covington Co-op Pays Property Tax

Covington Electric Cooperative recently made ad valorem (property) tax payments for the year 1967, totaling $11,395.02.

Payments were made to Covington, Coffee, Crenshaw, Geneva, Dale and Escambia counties. The total direct tax bill of the Cooperative for 1967 will be approximately $45,000, officials said. Covington Electric serves over 10,700 consumers, and operates over 1,770 miles of power lines in the above-listed counties.

Elba Merchants Will Close On Monday, January 1, To Celebrate New Year's Day

Jr. Miss To Compete Miss Suzanne Prior will journey to Birmingham this Saturday for preliminary judging in the Alabama Junior Miss Pageant. This judging will be a private event and the top twenty-four finalists will be judged before the public sometime in January. The Elba Jaycees sponsored the event locally. Accident Claims Life Of Elba Businessman

Byron A. Martin, owner and operator of Martin Signs in Elba, was killed in a one car accident last Friday evening as he returned to his home in Opp, Martin had cut-through from Basin and was approaching the Dixieland Drive-in when his car left the road in a curve and hit a tree at about six p.m. He died in an Opp hospital later that evening.

Martin had constructed a new building for his sign painting business on Industrial Blvd., during the past summer. He did custom painting for Dorsey Trailers and also for the general public.

His Christmas greeting to the people of Elba, published in last week's issue of the Clipper, said in part, "It would take ten coaches to hold all the good wishes we have to give our good friends and patrons for a most happy and hearty holiday season..."

Afternoon Rites Unite Miss Bryan, Lt. Niven

The marriage of Miss Myrtle Yvonne Bryan and Lt. Charles Robert Niven was solemnized at 4 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church.

Dr. James E. Southernland officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Bryan of Elba and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Niven of Yazoo City, Miss.

Nuptial music was by Mrs. Charles Pearce, organist, and Mrs. Jimmy Kirkland, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk peau de soie with a scalloped Sabrina neckline of Alencon lace. A matching sleeveless coat fell into a chapel train over her gown and the full-length veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a hat of Alencon lace and seed pearls. She carried a colonial nosegay of white Sweetheart roses atop a white Bible.

Miss Ruth Sadler of Beatrice was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles P. Hewes of Richardson, Tex.; Mrs. Grover T. Jacobs of Montgomery; Mrs. Paul E. King of Elba; and Mrs. Fred K. Ham of Elba.

The attendants were gowned alike in imported azalea cage dresses of chiffon over taffeta with matching headpieces. Each carried a colonial nosegay of white Sweetheart roses.

Sammy Niven of Yazoo City was his brother's best man. Groomsman were Billy Ray Jones of Columbus, Miss., cousin of the bridegroom; Danny Turner and Jack Turner of Tusculosa and Ricky Gallimore of Elba, all cousins of the bride.

Master Kenneth Bryan, brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple will return to Castle Air Force Base in California for three weeks before going to Little Rock Air Force Base, Ark., for permanent residence.

Attending the wedding from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Sadler and Miss Ruth Sadler of Beatrice; Miss Marcia Vaughan, Mrs. Jimmy Kirkland, Mrs. Norris Niven, Mrs. Mattie Burrell,

Tom Nelson, and Mr. and Mrs. Grover T. Jacobs of Montgomery; Mrs. D. H. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel S. THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in our life. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Six New Years — count them! Six sets of good resolutions—remember them! And now another year coming up... all too quickly... how they seem to rush by!

As always, the beginning of another year is a good time to consider how much happier and better life is when God is in it. And just as important is the resolution to share this knowledge with others.

True, any Sunday can be a new beginning. But strengthened by past experience, make this year a truly memorable one. Start taking your family to church regularly. Claim your birthright of peace and forgiveness in sincere worship.

Offers New

Year's Resolution

"Resolved, that I will not start smoking cigarettes, a habit which may be hard to break, and which may cost me my health and my life."

With youthful cigarette smokers increasing at the rate of more than 1 million a year, the Alabama Heart Association today proposed the foregoing New Year's resolution for the young people of this country.

The Association pointed out that damage to the heart and lungs begins early among cigarette smokers, and that there is evidence to indicate young tissues are more severely affected than old.

Before becoming addicted to cigarettes, said the Association, "the young person should know that a number of disorders — among them heart attack, stroke, hypertensive heart disease, lung cancer, emphysema, chronic bronchitis and peptic ulcer — are triggered or aggravated by cigarettes."

"These and other cigarette-associated disorders are responsible for more than 125,000 premature deaths in the United States each year, and are believed responsible for about 20 per cent of all time lost from business and industry," the Association added.

Cigarette smoking is not only costly to health but to the pocketbook as well, the Association said, pointing out that the expense for the first ten years of smoking may well exceed $3,000 — almost enough to finance one year of a college education.

The Association emphasized that the best way to deal with the cigarette problem is to refrain from taking the first puff. If this is done, said the Association, the individual not only avoids the possibility of illness and premature death but also the added problem of having to come to terms with the cost of the habit.

The forms are again simplified this year, and designed for faster processing in automatic counting machines.

In addition to requesting that the cards not be folded, torn, or mutilated, the VA this year is also asking pension recipients to return them in the window envelopes that are enclosed with their November check and income questionnaires mailed December 1. The VA asks that the questionnaires be put in the return envelope so that the pre-printed VA address shows through the envelope window.

Scotts Stay Busy-Growing Their Food

Mrs. George Scott of Enterprise, right, believes that people who stay busy will stay mentally young. Mrs. Scott, a retired bookkeeper, doesn't think the word "retired" means to quit work. She and her husband stay busy by growing practically all the food they eat on their small farm. Mrs. Scott's main job is to preserve the fruits and vegetables they grow. "I love to work," says Mrs. Scott. "It keeps me young. If we don't use our minds and bodies as we should, we get stale."

A look at her food pantry and deep freeze will make anyone want to stay for dinner. She preserves—cans or freezes—apples, peaches, pears, plums, blackberries and all kinds of vegetables.

"Mrs. Scott still takes time to do all the church work she's called on to do," says Mrs. Hutchinson, associate county Extension chairman for Coffee County. She takes pride in teaching an intermediate Saur school class at this time. The class includes entertaining the group at her home at regular intervals.

"I like to visit my neighbors and help with the sick," adds Mrs. Scott. "If you can't be kind and good and show affection, you don't deserve the good things of life."

Mrs. Scott also has a theory about one's occupation. A good occupation is making a home. "I'm talking about making a happy home that every member of the family enjoys. In our home and it has paid dividends."

The Scotts have the scene of many "get-togethers" of church groups, young people and neighbors. They have a 5-acre fishpond that provides many hours of pleasure for the couple and their friends. On a special day of each summer, the men and their sons fish the pond and clean their catch and the wives and mothers cook the fish and they all eat together.

Mrs. Scott canned 50 pints of fruits and jellies this year. She froze about 150 pints of vegetables and juices. The couple also slaughter their own beef for the freezer.

"I try planting some unusual vegetables for this area each year," says Mrs. Scott. "I grow some broccoli, asparagus, lettuce and rutabaga turnips. All these will grow here, but they demand a little more attention than some other commonly grown vegetables."

Mrs. Hutchinson points out that the Scotts have completely remodeled their home and added some space. "It looks like a modern home from the outside, but on the inside it maintains some of its old charm even though it has been completely redone."

"There's no chance of Mrs. Scott's getting old," smiles Mrs. Hutchinson. "She'll never take time to think about it."

Methodist Plan Visitation To Auburn U.

Elba Methodist ministers will join other ministers of the Andalusia District in attending the Auburn Wesley Foundation Open House on January 8 at 6:30 p.m. The purpose of the visitation is to meet with the university students from this area at the church center for dinner and a program to introduce the Wesley Foundation Program for students.

COFFEE NEWS & CHAT

BY SARA E. HUTCHINSON

SPICES Several days ago I borrowed a spice from my neighbor, Carolyn Strickland. As she was getting the spice for me, I noticed that all her spices had been transferred from their original containers to small tightly fitted jars. By doing this Mrs. Strickland's spices were kept much fresher. As you know some spices lose flavor in a short period of time after they are opened and are not stored in an airtight container.

Speaking of spices, have you ever used saffron? Saffron is a spice from the crocus family. It has to be picked by hand and it takes 225,000 stigmas to make a pound. It is the most expensive of all the spices and is used in very small amounts in fancy breads and in special rice dishes.

From our purchases at the frozen foods counter it is found that frozen fish, poultry and other meats, being generally more costly, take more dollars than other kinds of frozen foods. But, in terms of individual packages sold, frozen vegetables and frozen concentrated orange juice are runaway best sellers, followed by potpies and dinners.

RAISIN IDEAS Why not take 40 raisins and plumb them in hot water. Then drain and combine with 2 teaspoons butter, 1 1/2 teaspoons brown sugar, a dash each of cinnamon and nutmeg and 2 tablespoons water. Simmer 4 minutes until syrup is thick. Serve warm.

COUNTY EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The Coffee County Council of Extension Homemakers met recently in Enterprise for their annual meeting.

Extension clubs from all over the county brought seventy members in for the meeting. Mrs. Mabel Fleming, Vice President from the Calvary Club, was the presiding officer.

The council had selected the Medical Self Help Training Course as their county-wide project. At this meeting the first lesson was given. It was presented by Mrs. Frances Stewart, County Health Nurse, on artificial respiration. After remarks concerning the training course, Mrs. Stewart showed the group this film "Breath of Life".

This film was most informative and is highly recommended to be shown to youth groups as well as adults. It is available through County Health Department.

Other lessons on the Medical Self Help Training Course will be given during the month of December and January. During December, Vice Presidents of each club will hold meetings in their clubs on the subject of "Shock".

It is hoped that in January the remaining nine lessons can be secured. The council had selected the Medical Self Help Training Course as their county-wide project. THE COFFEE COUNTY truck crops committee of the Extension Council make plans for 1968 production.

A special dinner meeting of all interested growers will be held Wednesday night, January 3, at the New Brooklyn High School lunchroom.

There will be a lot of Coffee County farmers take advantage each year of payments provided through the ACP program administered by the ASOS office at New Brooklyn. They usually have two sign-ups each year for different practices. The first period will be from January 2 to January 15. If you have in mind doing certain things the first half of 1968 on which they will provide some of the funds, be sure to check with the office in New Brooklyn. They are open each day from 7:30 until 4:00 p.m.

PEANUT BILL A bill has just recently been passed by the Congress to allow peanut growers to be sold or leased. There may be some growers in Coffee County who no longer wish to keep their allotments. If this is the case, you can either sell or lease your allotment to anyone in the county. They cannot be sold or leased across county lines.

More information will be available on this in a few days. The ASOS office in New Brooklyn will provide information on this as soon as it is signed by the President.

TRUCK CROPS MEETING We are expecting a good group of folks interested in growing truck crops at a special meeting next Wednesday night at the New Brooklyn High School lunchroom. Folks on the program will include M. R. Glasscock and Perry Smith of our Auburn University staff, representatives of King-Pharr Company, C. U. Storey, rural resource development specialist of Ozark, and Jake Morrow of Morrow Gin and Peanut Company of Elba. Our truck crops committee made of Robert Stephens, J. J. Hataway, Wilton Bryan and J. J. Hataway are also attending to help outline plans. We certainly need to know more about the opportunities for truck crop producers in Coffee County.

SOIL TESTING The entire house has concrete floors that slope one-half inch per foot to the back. This allows body wastes to be washed into a log located nearby. The floors are hosed down twice a day.

It takes no more than two hours a day to look after the sows, pigs and feeder hogs," says Waters. "Right now Walter works hard to wrap it and get it in the mail for you."

More and more folks are becoming interested in soil testing. If you don't have the supplies, write or call us and we will mail them to you.

Record U. S. Soybean Crop Faces Tough Foreign Competition

American soybeans are failing to compete on major world markets, experts warn. As a result, soybean growers may have a difficult time competing with foreign oilseed crops. The problem is a serious lack of price flexibility for U.S. soybeans. An association comprised of both growers and processors.

Council President Glenn Pogler says U.S. soybeans are having difficulty competing with foreign oilseed crops. He also served as Area Engineer for the SCS in Evergreen and Dadeville. He and his wife, Norma, have three children, are Baptists, and reside at 519 Oak Avenue in Ozark.

Getting and keeping good farm labor are major concerns of farm operators today.

When should a hog farmer expand his operation? Hog prices in recent months have undoubtedly prompted many producers to consider increasing their operations. But the facilities and equipment, which has helped stabilize the swine business regardless of the type of management job he is doing. Before expanding your hog program ask yourself these questions:

1. Is my operation free of parasite and disease problems?

2. Do I wear an average of at least eight pigs a litter?

3. Do my market hogs average 200 pounds at less than 170 days old?

4. Do I produce 100 pounds of pork on 350 pounds or less of feed?

5. Do at least 50 percent of my market hogs grade USDA No. 1?

6. Can I handle a larger swine operation with present management skills?

If no is the answer to most of these questions, you may benefit more by improving your present operation, rather than increasing the size of it. Making better use of facilities, and improving work routines and management may produce adequate income within the limits of your present operation. Other farm buildings may also be adapted to hog raising with minimum improvements.

The production system an operator chooses depends upon his management ability, financial position and the importance of hogs in the farm. The confinement system
